Interesting... have you ever seen some problems caused by this?

Well, this thread is motivated by a problem that I have experienced, it happened exactly like I described:

- I wanted to post the collected info using ajax calls, and the responses were not handled correctly

I'm not sure if this redirect "bug" caused the error (I'm still debugging it), but I came across this "bug" in the debugging process. I'll try to find out if this is the cause of my problem, but still it would be nice to follow the standards.
